

Never-Ending Story

Stones are much slower than animals. Plants give off more smell when it rains. Swallows when winter arrives fly until summer. Pigeons like corn and bread crumbs. Rain comes from water that the sun evaporates. Men when they come from far away bring suitcases. Fish when they swim together form a school. Larvae become butterflies inside cocoons. Toes prevent one from falling. Wise men are silent when others speak. The do nothing machines are not broken. Monkey's tails serve as arms. Dog's tails serve as laughs. Cows eat the same food twice. Pages were written to be read. Trees can live longer than people. Elephants and dolphins have good memory. Words can be used in many ways. Matches can only be used once. Glass when it is really clean almost can't be seen. Gum is for chewing but not for swallowing. Dromedaries have one hump and camels have two. Midnights last less than middays. Turtles are born in eggs but are not birds. Whales live in water but are not fish. Teeth when we brush them stay white. Hair when it gets old turns white. The music of the Indians makes the rain fall. The bodies of the buried dead fertilize the land. Cars take many curves to go up the mountain. Children like to ask questions about everything. Not all the answers fit an adult.