

walking contradiction

he was a young man of the old school,
he was a wise guy who wouldn't play the fool;
he was well-versed, but had bad diction ...
he was a walking contradiction.

he was an A-student athlete,
he was always upset, but never downbeat;
he was contrary to confliction ...
he was a walking contradiction.

he was easy going, but had a hard time,
he was well off, but didn't own a dime;
he was smooth despite the friction...
he was a walking contradiction.

he was straight-faced, and had a crooked smile,
he was worn-out, but in style;
he was healed by his addiction ...
he was a walking contradiction.

he was open minded, but had an empty heart,
he was an apprentice in life, and a master of art;
he was transgressive by prescription...
he was a walking contradiction.

he was intellectually advanced, but emotionally immature,
he was certain he was not sure;
he was unconvincing in his conviction ...
he was a walking contradiction.

he was on the road, and homeward bound,
he was absolutely lost, but relatively found;
he was characterized beyond description ...
he was a walking contradiction.

he was a young man of the old school,
he was a wise guy who wouldn't play the fool;
he was, in fact, a fiction ...
he was a walking contradiction.
